Champagne

Côte de Blancs / The Hill of Whites

COLLECTION DE LARMANDIER-BERNIER, VERTUS

Quite simply, Pierre and Sophie Larmandier produce some of the world's best blanc de blancs Champagnes.

Unlike most of Champagne, most of the work here goes into the vineyard and not into the marketing. The results are clear to taste in the glass. Pierre devotes his time to work in the vineyards, which have been certified biodynamic since 1999. His insistence on low yields and harvesting only properly ripe grapes means that only a minimal dosage is needed, allowing the fruit and minerality to express themselves fully in the glass.

As noted in Robert Parker's Wine Advocate, "the Larmandier-Bernier Champagnes are some of the purest and most utterly engaging wines being made in the region today. I can't recommend them highly enough".

COLLECTION DE ALBERT MANN, WETTOLSHEIM

The Barthelmés of Wettolsheim combine the best of traditional French values with a modern consumer-friendly approach.

This modest family domaine was formed when the Barthelmé brothers combined their vineyard holdings in Kientzheim with those of Albert Mann, adding plots in great grands crus such as Schlossberg and Furstentum. They are renowned for producing wines of rare finesse, and which always promise a brilliant rapport with fine cuisine.

The Barthelmés work in biodynamic viticulture, and their dedicated toil paid off when they were named "Winemakers of the Year 2012" by French wine bible La Revue du Vin de France.

Côte de Beaune / The Hills of Beaune COLLECTION DE VINCENT RAPET, PERNAND-VERGELESSES

Vincent Rapet is a serious to the point of dourness. But his perfectionist streak has paid off in spades, as he elevates the reputation of his native Pernand. Indeed, this well-kept secret is now sought across Joël Robuchon's global empire.

His wines are seductive on the bouquet, elegant on the palate, and persistent on the finish. Particularly recognised for his pure, minerally whites, he was proclaimed as the "Emperor of Corton-Charlemagne" by French wine bible La Revue du Vin de France in November 2016.
